

Mind Style	Appeal
Concrete Sequential	This type of student will enjoy the structure of the directions in the project. Although they will be working in a group, they will be contributing their own work based on a role that will be assigned to them. The directions in this project are predictable and reliable.
Concrete Random	This type of student will enjoy taking a risk in creating and modifying their proposal. Additionally, they will be working through many of the problems by themselves , and coming back to the group only to compare and suggest final solutions.
Abstract Random	This type of student would work best as the peacemaker in the group, someone who can take all of the ideas, and decide what is best among the alternatives.
Abstract Sequential	This type of student will enjoy the analysis that goes into constructing a strategy and making a plan. They will be able to work alone for most of the project, and bring their ideas back to the group. As each person in the group will be considered an expert , this learner will have access to specialized knowledge.

